ABOUT RE-SURFACE

Influenced by the Japanese aesthetic of wabi-sabi and inspired by the beauty of urban decay, designer Donna Brady established RE-SURFACE in December of 2003. RE-SURFACE is a Brooklyn based design studio focused on transforming dilapidated exterior surfaces from the streets, into beautiful and unique interior designs. By photographing these facades and appropriating them onto the surfaces of interior products, we attempt to document their development, while at the same time illuminating the beauty that exists amid these transitory layers.
